

Insight by Daniel Bryan - Video DOWNLOAD

Imagine being able to hand someone a blank piece of card or your own business card and ask them to draw or write anything they like on it whilst your back is turned . You then turn back around and take the card face down and you seal this inside an envelope and place this inside your wallet or the spectators wallet and ask them to hold on to it. You then proceed to ask them to just think about their image and send it via their thoughts alone.

You say, "Through using insight ability I am going to try and duplicate your thoughts on a separate blank card."

You pause ... and start to begin to draw something. You then place this face down on the table . You then take the wallet and take out the envelope and open it in full view still never seeing the image and dump out their card face down onto the table. You then ask them to turn over their card to show everyone and slowly turn over your card ... they are a Perfect MATCH !

Things to remember -

- Easy to do . You show the envelope front and back and nothing can be seen through either side.
- They really can write or draw anything they like on the card
- No phishing for any details what so ever
- Can be instantly repeated
- No gimmick wallet necessary
- A great way to give your business details out as they can keep the card they have written on as a souvenir

This is INSIGHT - [The act or outcome of grasping the inward or hidden nature of things or of perceiving in an intuitive manner]