Tired of doing tricks? Bored of drawing duplications that only involve one person while the rest of the group merely watches?

Do you want a dynamic framework that involves everyone? Do you want methods that rank amateurs wouldn't dream of doing? Do you want a killer performance piece for your next party?

Welcome to Intelligent Design. It is a presentational framework you can mold to your personality and to individual performing needs. It gives you room to participate with your audience and brings them into the action dynamically with often surprising results.

This isn't a drawing duplication you perform for one person; this is a shared experience you create for a room full of people.

The method is built on solid mentalism principles and has been performed in every possible setting with devastating results. You literally become the life of the party.

Intelligent Design is for the smart mentalist who enjoys free-form performance pieces that demand staying in the moment and creating a shared experience for your audience. Intelligent Design was created with YOU in mind.
