

Creepy Touch by Alessandro Criscione video DOWNLOAD

Here is something incredibly innovative, from the mind of Alessandro Criscione.

Have you ever thought about having power at your fingertips?

Now it is possible!

The magician asks to the spectator to examine the magician's hands, and then to examine a normal balloon. He asks the spectator to blow up the balloon and to hold it firmly between their fingers. The magician slowly approaches, with his finger pointing at the balloon. With great surprise to the spectator, the balloon suddenly explodes.

No needle, no pressure, no electrical device, no special balloon, and no special gimmicks...

This is Creepy Touch -- hope you enjoy.