You borrow a regular deck; spectator shuffles and the magician write down a prediction. Spectators deal the card down in face up one by one as they want to stop to create their own pack of cards. The magician deal 6 cards down present for 6 faces of the dice. Spectator freely roll the dice, the card at the same number they rolled will be eliminated until there is only one card on table. Spectators pick up their pack and deal the card down same as the value of the last card still on the table. And miracle thing happy, the card appears same as the prediction.

- Borrowed shuffled deck
