
Republics: Jeremy Griffith Edition - Pokerdeck

How far do you go when choosing a deck? Does it match your shoes? Your outfit?

How about it's design, does it reflect your personal brand?

How about the memories the deck created? Do you even have any?

The Republic Deck is a powerful deck to Jeremy Griffith (known to tens of thousands as @Lost_angelus on Instagram). It's the Ellusionist design that was there for him in a time of need.

After suffering a personal family tragedy, he bonded with that design.

It's subtle, elegant, trustworthy & classy. Everything that Jeremy's friends would rush to say about him.

In this most recent edition, the pips are bigger, self-assured by their unique layout, but with a hint of modesty. Characteristics personified by the man himself.

The tuck box is simple but wrapped warmly in a raised-text cigar sleeve. It's authentic... and cannot be mistaken.

When bringing these to life, there was only one person we wanted to collaborate with on this Erdnase Green colorway. Jeremy Griffith.

TAKE NOTHING FOR GRANTED

During the launch party at Blackpool Magic Convention, people were so eager to get their hands on the deck, they arrived to the party BEFORE our own team did... and they were NOT disappointed..

The stock is a luxury pressed E7 stock from Cartamundi. If you've never felt this before, it's the best stock we've felt. Soft, thin & sturdy. Thin enough to make your sleights feel easier. Rigid enough to last.

If you have felt it before, you already know that no other stock compares, especially with this borderless design.

Top changes, second deals, false shuffles - invisible. The lack of constraint on the backs makes even difficult sleights like culls look seamless too.

Never before have we satiated the desires of collectors at the same time as the desires of card-workers.

Exquisite design and unparalleled performance, reunited at last.
