
Warm Fuzzies Up Close by Mark Strivings

Five "ESP Compatibility Test Cards" are shown, each with a different colored spot on the back. They are mixed with the colors face down, and one is freely selected and placed aside, sight unseen. Now five small colored stones, the same colors as on the back of the cards, are mixed and one is selected. The colors match! It's just that simple.

Here are a few things to consider:

There is literally NO reset. This is perpetually ready to go.

The results are different every time. If the same color is chosen from one performance to the next, it is purely coincidental.

There is no sleight of hand.

This can be worked entirely in the hands.

The reason for the name (Warm Fuzzies Up Close) is because if you work this with a couple, when the matching colors are revealed, anyone who happens to be watching will automatically go, 'Awwwwwwwwww'. It's a touching moment.

Can be worked with ANY two people. In fact, I frequently do this with a single spectator and myself.

You get the five ESP Compatibility Testing Cards, the five colored stones and complete instructions. This is a worker in every sense of the word and is the perfect strolling trick.
