"In Addition to this, Danny Hustle has a long conversation with me about the Does and Don'ts of the streets!

The question is, how does a guy who's a little funny and does some pretty good magic, make a great living in this most challenging environment? the answers are all here!" - Kozmo

"Performance is always about the audience, but being able to gather and energize an audience is a First Principle that Koz understands in spades. He not only draws audiences into his sunny lair of hilarity, he holds them captive until they have totally surrendered. This is because he knows at gut-level the "about-ness" of magic, as well. I watched him work the hard-scrabble streets of the Big Easy. He is the best I've seen in the trenches, bar none!"
