

Kate And Edith by Doc Eason and Kerry Pollock - Trick

Stand up comedy magic classic!

Kerry Pollock and Doc Eason have just released this long out of print routine, one of the funniest routines in magic.

It features rhymed patter, which will have the audience rolling on the floor. The routine has been thoroughly audience tested in comedy and magic clubs all over the United States.

During the routine the King of Hearts is removed from between the Queen of Spades and the Queen of Clubs three times. Each time he manages to reappear. Finally, he vanishes in a cloud of laughter!

You receive most complete tutorial possible. Scripts from Kerry Pollock, Dan Garrett, Doug Slater, RJ Owens and Doc Eason are included in pdf form so that, once you have chosen the version you want to use, you can download and print it.

Doc talks about several different methods to memorize the script. He even gives a method where you can present this-WITHOUT memorizing a thing!

In addition, an audio file of Doc's script is included which you can download to your iPod to learn it that way. A hilarious rendition from RJ Owens is also included in an audio format.

Also included are three live performances: one from Kerry and two from Doc. These views give you a chance to see how the routine plays in front of real audiences.

The ON-LINE INSTRUCTIONS covers the handling, care and feeding of the props, and cautionary notes about when not to do this routine, as well as additional tips from Bill Palmer, Bob Escher and a clever reworking of the script by Doug Slater and Paul Landry.

Comes with four Jumbo Cards, including the special gimmick. The cards are made of sturdy plastic, so they should last a lifetime.
