

The Money Monte by Brent Arthur James Geris

Show the fronts and backs of three cards, let's say a King and 2 Jokers. Tell your spectator to keep their eye on the money card - the King. Very slowly and in the fairest way possible, the King is turned face-down and placed on the table. The spectator is asked to put their finger on the money card.

When that card is turned face-up it has CHANGED and the money card is now in your hand! This is repeated AGAIN, even slower and yet, the money card is still not to be found! Magically, the money card turns face-up while "sandwiched" between the other two cards - TWICE!

Finally, the kicker...the money card DISAPPEARS and you are left with three JOKERS! And only three cards are used! This can be repeated to give your spectator another shot, yet they are wrong again!
