

Voodoo doll

The performer shows the audience a small voodoo doll and lies it on his outstretched hand. After a moment of suspense the audience will see the doll creepily start moving until it ends up standing upright all by itself. The spectators will remain speechless because they will be able to see with their own eyes that there are no strings threads or anything similar attached to the doll.

Very easy to do!

- No magnets, no invisible threads!