

Quo Vadis

The magician asks a spectator to borrow a watch and he closes it in a blue tube. The tube is then inserted into a red tube. However, after some magic gestures, the blue tube with inside the watch is found inside a white tube previously shown empty and inside the red tube is found a glass of orange juice or even a glass of water containing a true goldfish!

You will leave your audience speechless...

- Easy to perform, but of great impact.
- Perfect for shows with adults, but also with children.
- The tubes are easy to transport, the largest is 18 cm high and has a diameter of 9.5 cm.
- The watch can be borrowed, there are no swaps, what will always reappear will be that of the specator.
