

Instapad by Danny Weiser & Goncalo Gil

The plot is simple, the magician introduces the “Instapad” by saying that it will be important in a few moments and he can put it on the table, or give it to a spectator.

A card is freely chosen and signed. Then, the magician can perform his favourite card routine, keeping the “Instapad” aside for the big finale.

Magically, the signed card vanishes from the deck. At that moment, the magician picks up the “Instapad” and tells the spectators that their card is in the pad (they can read “Your Card” on it).

There is something more, an arrow pointing to a dot that the magician will claim it is the signed card, but it is still far away and the only thing he needs to do is to bring it closer. When the magician does that, he will produce the card in the most visual way.

You will produce the signed card

Instant reset

There is no switches of any kind

Everything can be examed

3 different routines
