

Impossible Prediction Die

The performer shows a small wooden box with a transparent plexiglass cover. Inside it there is a die that occupies most of the space in the box. The die therefore has not enough room to turn around inside the box. To prove this, a spectator is asked to shake the box and try to turn the die... this will be impossible! The magician asks a spectator to think of any of the sides of the die (besides the one face up in that moment). Magically when the box is shown, the thought of face of the die is now upwards!

- A great trick to always have in your pocket.
- Easy to do and great for any kind of audience.
- The wooden box measures 4cm (1,6") on each side and is 3,5cm (1,4") tall.
