

Crystal Thought Condenser

A card is chosen and returned to the deck. The magician shows a small Plexiglas cube, which the spectators see to be completely transparent. He gives it a shake and magically the image of the chosen card will appear in it.

At the end, the cube can be handed out for examination and there will be no trace of the image that had mysteriously appeared!

In addition to the cube measuring 2 cm (0,78") on each side, you will also find the gimmick that can also be customized using a specific prints supplied.
