

Connections

The magician shows a deck of cards, and has one selected by a spectator. The card is put back in the deck and the deck is shuffled. Now the magician fans the deck in front of a second spectator, asking him to concentrate and to make a magical connection with the first spectator's thoughts. Incredibly, under these impossible conditions the second spectator will "connect" to the thoughts of the first spectator, and be able to correctly name the card he is simply thinking of.

An entertaining and memorable effect!
