

Comedy Funnel - Plastic

The magician makes a spectator drink a glass of water. Therefore, a funnel is now put under a spectator's elbow. Another person from the audience pumps the other arm of the first spectator. A liquid will start flowing out of the funnel and falling inside a glass held by the magician under the elbow. Your audience will be really amused by the scene and it won't be able to stop laughing and clapping hands at the same time. This is a great comical magic!
