

Chinese Coin Palace

The magician shows a box with two doors that he opens to show it empty inside. In one of the two compartments he puts a jumbo chinese coin and closes the doors. He tilts the box to the right, saying that the coin has disappeared and opens the door on the left to show this. Then he tilts the box to the left and opens the door on the right. And so on several times. The audience is not impressed as each time the magician tilts the box, they see the coin slide from one side to the other. At the end however the magician opens both doors and there will be no trace of the card! Finally, he will make it reappear in a place of his choice!
