

Candy Prediction by Adrian Carratala - Bühnentrick

Enter the stage with a jar full of colored candies and you will have the attention of the entire audience guaranteed. Spectators will be able to guess exactly how many candies are in the pot.

“My Candies” is a fresh, fun and direct mentalism routine.

The conditions are perfect:

- The boat is always in plain sight, no one approaches it, and nothing gets in or out of it.
- Spectators have TOTAL freedom to name the numbers they want.
- The number is generated in real time and they can change their mind.
- The number that they have created together appears on a folded piece of paper inside the boat.
- The number may appear printed in block letters, or as handwritten with a marker.

The entire public participates from their place, without having to touch the objects and the effect is so powerful and clean that it can close your show.

And best of all: It's very easy to do! The set includes everything you need so that you can start presenting it from the moment you receive the package and an explanatory video in Spanish with great detail.

I know what you're thinking: do you need an assistant?... Well, if you have one, they can help you during the routine, but if you don't, you can also present it by yourself, without help. The routine is exactly the same: do it with or without an assistant. It all depends on how you prefer to present.

It also uses this system to make appear in addition to numbers, words, texts and even images.
