WhisperCode by Fraser Parker - Buch

Introducing WhisperCode - my latest creation and a true breakthrough in two-person communication. This isn't just a method; it's an organic system designed for complete freedom and effortless connection. In less than a minute, you can teach your assistant the entire code with nothing more than a simple whisper. No memorisation. No lists. No stock lines. Just pure, unforced conversation that feels natural in every way.

WhisperCode gives you the ability to encode anything - words, objects, names, numbers - with total ease. It's perfect for close-up work, where subtlety is key, but also adaptable for stage, with an option to perform even if your assistant is blindfolded. The method is completely hidden, blending perfectly into real conversation, allowing you to be creative and spontaneous with no fixed statements or awkward cues. WhisperCode is an elegant, invisible system that flies right past your audience, leaving no trace.

This is true freedom in performance. This is WhisperCode.