

Rebel Angles (Angel) by King Star - Pokerdeck

Rebel and Angel, these are two words with strong contrast, just like the girls on the cards, although they are wearing cute sailor suits, they are holding weapons in their hands. In this contrast, there is a personality expression that does not follow the old ways and desires independence and freedom, which is also the purpose of this deck.

Rebel and Angel is designed in two versions, one is the angel version and the other is the rebel version. The front of the card box is a girl with a strong two-dimensional atmosphere. The angel version looks cuter, while the rebel version is colder and more beautiful, showing two completely different personalities.

The back of the Angel version has a girl's pink dreamy feeling, while the Rebel version is more purple. The rich color matching of the picture makes both decks have a good fanning effect. The 12 head cards in the picture are the place where the designer spent the most time and effort to emphasize. Classified by suit, each suit corresponds to a different scene, and each card is a different girl. For example, the diamond is a cool street girl, independent and flamboyant. The girl with the red heart holds a weapon but has a soft pink heart. The girl with plum blossom in the picture is engaged in ordinary work, but still pursues fashion and freedom. The girl with spade in the picture is a girl who loves life and is full of literature and art.

Although they have different images and personalities, they all have the same heart for pursuing passion.