

Repo: A Chain of Unusual Events by Tobias Dostal

Prepare to unlock a series of unusual events!

Imagine this: you hold a seemingly unremarkable necklace - which instantly becomes an ordinary key. Under your FULL control, the key and the chain begin a dance of impossibility-appearing, vanishing, transposing, and changing in your spectator's hands. But that's not all.

In the stunning finale, you gently place the chain with the key around your spectator's wrist. The key is then plucked from the chain and vanishes at your fingertips. You toss the now invisible key into the air, and to the spectator's astonishment, it appears landing securely on the chain still wrapped around their wrist. And everything is fully examinable!

Repo is a fluid, multi-phase illusion that is as deceptive as it is beautiful. The precision gimmick also goes beyond the key and chain - it is suitable to also make other small items appear and vanish, unlocking a world of possibilities.

What to Expect:

- A seamless, multi-phase routine: Watch as a necklace and key engage in a series of magical transformations, each more impossible than the last.
- A show-stopping finale: Magically remove a key from a spectator's wrist, make it disappear, then toss the invisible key into the air where it visibly locks itself back to the chain.
- Versatile gimmick: Beyond the key and chain, use the same method to make other small items appear, vanish, and reappear for additional routines.
- Perfect for close-up or stage: Whether in an intimate close-up performance or in front of a larger audience, Repo delivers high impact with minimal props.
- Easy to perform, visually stunning: Learn the basics quickly, or reach a mastery level that will unlock a new cheat-code to break your spectators...
