

K-Writer by Kiko Pastur & Invisible Compass

The ultimate nail writer for magicians and mentalists

This gimmick, inspired by the classic "swami," is designed to be almost invisible on the finger while producing a thick, highly visible line on paper. Its design is the perfect balance of size, shape, and practicality, achieving a compact gimmick with a firm and secure grip, and an ideal line for close-up, parlor, and stage performances.

Its lead does not dry out, can be used hundreds of times, and can even write on skin, allowing for paperless revelations.

"It's the first nail writer that attaches perfectly, even with very short nails. It feels incredibly rigid in the hand, doesn't loosen or wobble at all, and writes with impressive strength and clarity. Its thick line almost resembles that of a marker and can be seen from any distance."
