

Rudolph and Friends By Gustavo Sereno and Gee Magic - Buch

Welcome to the second book of the book series by Gee Magic.

Rudolph and Friends uses a well-known principle that is used in an original and unique way making a very funny and interacting routine for Christmas shows.

You start by saying that you are going to show a very special group of friends that helps Santa on Christmas Eve. Together, they make up the perfect team, working side by side to spread cheer, deliver gifts, and share in the magic of Christmas. They are Rudolph and friends.

When you show the book (phase 1) The reindeer will not be there.

Then you react like something went wrong and you manage to understand what you need to do to make them appear. It's the magic word. The magic word is "Corn". They shout it out (phase 2) and when you open the book it will appear chickens.

Confused, you realized that the correct word is not "corn", its "grass". So, you ask the kids to shout the magic word. And when they do (phase 3), you open the book and will appear zebras.

At the end (phase 4), you remember that the correct word is not "corn" or "grass", its "cookies". They shout the word "cookies", and all the reindeer will appear.

This is the perfect moment to finish with a educational message (optional): "Each one of them, with their unique size, speed and personality, proves that no matter how different you are, there's always a place to create the best kind of friendship"

This routine has it all. MAGIC, COMEDY and EDUCATION.
