

Universal Display System by Jon Allen

Ensuring your props are visible to your audience is vital to your performance.

The Universal Display System is the elegant solution.

This modular stand creates multiple displays and holders for your performances. There are 16 ways to build with the Universal Display System to use depending on your needs. Each one elevates the item from your working surface, providing the perfect way to display it.

For close-up, parlor and stage, the Universal Display System provides a stylish way to display, and isolate, a wide variety of items.

Whether you are using a deck of cards, envelopes, fruit, Rubik's Cube, boxes, a glass and any number of different items, the Universal Display System will help create a professional look for you and your performance.

Using the six elements, a single display stand can be created and changed, or two stands can be created at one time, allowing you to display two different items at once.
