Gustavo Raley returns with a new routine interacting with emoticons.

The magician shows a screen of a chat but analog since it is a blackboard.

Then draw a chat with the symbol of an emoticon but without expression.

Then shows several cards with emoticons with different expressions and give one to choose.

Then the screen emoji becomes the chosen one

In the end and in an incredible way the magician takes the drawing out the board and gives its to the spectator

A very nice routine, simple and with a very funny story

Based on an original idea John Breeds "Visible Magic Painting"
