

The Mouse That Roared by Dan Garrett

routine is quick and visual where a small mouse (puppet) runs up and down your arm, fingers, across your shoulders, attacks you, kisses you, interacts with you, bites you, it is fed, and so much more.

You are taught Dan's original handling and fingering of the puppet, which is different from all previous versions, and simulates the actions of a real animal. No threads or mechanical parts of any kind... just your personality and handling.

Dan has used it on stage, corporate events, close-up, walk-around, parlor, children's shows, and just about every venue and condition imaginable. The video tutorial features Dan performing and teaching his adult and kid show routines.

This streamlined mouse (originally called Judy the Mouse) does not use any fur or animal products in the manufacture of the puppet. The mouse also includes a small squeaker that is embedded inside, so all the squeaks are self-contained and are not dangerous to use like the original warblers.

Comes with a custom-made, five-inch, mouse puppet (no fur used), a squeaker to embed in the mouse, and access to an online video tutorial by Dan Garrett and Meir Yedid. A Meir Yedid Magic product.
