

Dream Museum by David Jonathan and Nikolas Mavresis

Your audience will embark on a mysterious adventure as they navigate their way through a fun escape room, culminating in an unexpected, iconic reveal!

Four cards are introduced that say "Discover The Missing Pieces" and are set aside for later. They now make a series of intriguing choices, depicted on cards, to determine their path. For example, do you go down the light hallway or the dark hallway? Open the yellow door or the white door? With each decision, that chosen card is laid out on the table, showing a clear path of their journey.

After all five decisions have been made, the "Discover The Missing Pieces" cards are retrieved and laid out among their selections to form a grid. The cards they rejected are now flipped over to reveal they have various famous paintings on the backs and are placed aside.

For the grand finale, all the cards in the grid are turned over and, in a stunning reveal, form a mosaic of the Mona Lisa, which can be examined by the audience if they like! Every choice they made was the correct decision to complete the painting and conquer the escape room!
